BOEHLING PUZZLES CLEVELAND BATTERS

Richmond Boy's Twirling and Batting Win First Game-"Doc" Ayers Pitches Last Inning of Second Game, Allows One Hit and Two Scratch Bingles, and Strikes Out Johnston and Billings.

In the second combat Griff sent his one best bet, Walter Johnson, to the hill. Walter allowed the large number of four hits in eight frames, for ome run, and then gave way to Doc. Yancey Ayers. The former Richmond flinger got off to a bad start. Jackson beat out a mensly hit to Foster, and Brady, who had replaced Lajoie, hit to centre. Spencer failing to come in fast enough for the ball. Then the Doctor got busy and proceeded to strike out Johnston, the hard-hitting first-sacker. Gracy was ready with a hit, however, and as Spencer allowed the ball to bound away from him. Jackson scored. Bates popped to Moeller, and then Ayers ended the game by whiffing Billings.

Doc. Ayers made a creditable showing. He fanned two, allowed but one real hit and two scratch bingles, and did not walk a man. He was given poor support, but looked like a comer. The fans of Washington are pleased with the big fellow, and he was roundly cheered when he went into the box. Soehling's work was wonderful. The former Battle Axe hurler had a world of speed to-day, and had the Cleveland club swinging their heads off. The veteran Lajoic went hitless against the youngster, while Jackson's hit was a bunt along the third base line. Joe also got busy with his bat, getting a trio of safeties, all hard hit bails to the outfield. Joe was just wild enough to keep the Naps on the jump, and he had them going.

Danny Moeller came through with a home run with two on in the sixth inning of the first game, while in the third session of the second contest Eddie Ainsmith duplicated Moeller's feat. Moeller and Gandil doubled, and McBride tripled, while the Nationals, as a team, made twenty-five hits in the
